Tutoring Experience

Over my 9 years as a tutor, I've worked closely with AP US History and A-Level History students, guiding them through a comprehensive understanding of US and world history. My students develop strong analytical skills, helping them to excel in exams and engage deeply with the subject. This focus on analysis and critical thinking has led to impressive results, with many students achieving top grades.

In addition to history tutoring, I support students in related curriculums, such as IGCSE Sociology, enhancing their grasp of complex historical and societal themes. I bring a wealth of knowledge from my academic background and research in history, allowing students to connect their studies with broader historical contexts.
