Tutoring Experience

I began tutoring in 2016 and have since worked with students preparing for AP Biology, IB Biology (SL and HL), and A-Level exams. My expertise lies in genetics, molecular biology, and anatomy, helping students develop a deep understanding of complex biological concepts while preparing for exams and higher education.

In addition to AP curricula, I have worked with students pursuing IGCSE and IB qualifications, tailoring lessons to meet the specific requirements of each programme. I've also supported university-level learners, ensuring they are equipped to handle advanced topics and achieve their academic goals.
